Driver Dies As Car Hits Pole

Albert Sypos Victim Of Rt. 62 Mishap

Albert Sypos, 31, of 337 S. Ellsworth Ave., was killed at 1 a.m. today when his automobile struck a utility pole along Route 62, five miles north of Salem.

State highway patrolmen reported that Sypos was driving north when his car veered to the left side of the road and into a ditch. The auto then continued up the ditch for 200 feet before striking a pole and overturning.

May Have Fallen Asleep

Sypos, who was alone, was pronounced dead upon arrival at City Hospital of a broken neck and crushed chest. The car was demolished.

State patrolmen said Sypos may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

The victim, who had been working for the Hunter Construction Co. of Youngstown, had been rooming in Youngstown. He previously lived with his parents at 337 S. Ellsworth.

One other traffic accident in the district occurred Monday.

John Myslinsky, 36, of Toronto, was charged by the state patrol with reckless driving after his auto struck another car driven by Thayer McDaniel, 54, of Chester, W. Va., at the intersection of Routes 30 and 7 at 12:45 p.m.

Myslinsky failed to stop for the main thoroughfare, the state patrol reported. Henna Harness of East Liverpool, who was riding with McDaniel, suffered a concussion and forehead lacerations.

2 Youths Held For Damaging Mailboxes

Two youths were picked up by Salem police last night for damaging four mailboxes at Arch St. and Granite.

Constable Homer Gray of Butler Township reported to police that as he was driving on Arch St. at 2:12 a.m. today, he saw two men, identified as Pfc. Raymond V. Patterson, 20, of 504 Arch St. and Marvin Grace, 19, of Ohio Ave., knocking down and damaging the mailboxes.

Knowing they were seen, the pair jumped into an auto and fled, Gray reported. He chased the car and spotted the license number, reporting it to Salem police, who later picked up the youths.

Patterson and Grace will be given a hearing in Mayor's court this afternoon. The case has been reported to postal authorities.

Patterson is on furlough from the Army.

Neither man gave any explanation of his actions.

Truman Believed Ready To Kill Controls Soon

Tighe Woods Quits As OPS Chief, Blasts Controls Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quick end to all price and wage controls by order of President Truman was seen as a possibility today in the wake of two major developments:

1. Sen. Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee said in a broadcast from Charleston last night he has information Truman is considering doing away with such controls by executive order before Jan. 3.
2. Tighe E. Woods resigned as price stabilizer. His resignation, peppered with criticism of Congress for providing a controls law which Woods contended favors "special interests," reached Truman today.

"I have information that the President is now considering doing away with price and wage controls," Maybank said when interviewed asked him if he thought the Republicans would do away with such curbs.

Executive Order Seen

In replies to other questions, Maybank said this would be done by executive order, and before the Republican-dominated Congress takes over Jan. 3.

Woods sent his resignation-effective Nov. 30—to the White House yesterday but by a misce it did not reach Truman's desk until (1) the President had left his executive offices for the day and (2) the price chief had told a news conference he was quitting after three months in office.

"Present Law Weak"

Woods told reporters the present controls law "is weak and must undergo a very serious overhauling by the Congress to take out some of the special-interest amendments and substitute more equality of sacrifice among all elements of the economy."

He said that "it seems all I've done since taking this job is to sign orders for price increases and I haven't enjoyed the role."

Before leaving the Office of Price Stabilization this week end, Woods said, he hopes to:

1. Decide, probably tomorrow, whether retail beef ceilings can be rolled back in keeping with lower prices now being paid farmers for live cattle. He said he expects final recommendations from his staff today as to whether this is feasible. He said preliminary checks show most declines in live cattle prices are on low-grade animals rather than on choice livestock which provide a bulk of the cuts sold at retail.

2. Issue orders suspending controls on men's, boys' and women's and misses' clothing. These include suits, coats, accessories, furnishings and men's hats. At least one of these orders is due to be announced tonight.

The charge against him says Cascio "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons classified military writing. . . with reason to believe that said writing would reach the enemy."

In Tucson, Ariz., Cascio's 44-year-old wife declared, "Anyone who does anything to undermine his nation deserves whatever happens to him."

"This thing has just made me sick. We never got along. We were divorced once and I foolishly married him again."

She said her husband left for Korea early this year. She had not heard from him since June.

Maj. Matthew Stanhope of Whiteville, N.C., who arrested Cascio, said the stocky, heavy-set sergeant submitted meekly.

"The guy gave me no argument," Stanhope reported.

Army and Air Force officials in Washington said they recalled no other instance in the Korean action of such charges being placed against an American serviceman.

A car operated by Adelia Roche of 1136 E. State struck the rear of a dump truck parked in front of 838 N. Lincoln at 6:55 p.m. last night when the woman, traveling north on Lincoln, swerved to the right to avoid a car traveling south.

The right front fender, door, bumper and front wheel of the woman's auto were damaged. The truck, owned by Raymond Ferrall, received a broken rear corner post.

Cars driven by Mrs. Wilda Pascoe of 910 N. Ellsworth and Carl Clements of 145 W. Second St. collided at Stark St. and N. Ellsworth at 6:55 a.m. today.

Clements was making a turn from Stark onto N. Ellsworth, and his auto was struck by Mrs. Pascoe who was driving left of center because of an auto parked at the curb on the east side of N. Ellsworth. The left fronts of both vehicles were damaged.

Russia's Rejection Of Indian Proposal Dashes Truce Hopes

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union's flat rejection of India's compromise proposal on Korean prisoners of war dashed truce hopes in the United Nations today but backers of the Indian plan pushed ahead to get high-priority consideration for the resolution by the General Assembly's Political Committee.

These delegates said even though the Russians had rejected the plan, they felt the Assembly should endorse it and leave it up to the Chinese Reds and North Koreans at Panmunjom to accept it or face world censure by turning it down.

Supporters of the Indian proposals planned a bitter fight against certain Soviet bloc opposition in the 60-nation Political Committee, which today was to take up a motion to put India's plan at the top of the list of Korean resolutions to be discussed in de-legations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky yesterday crushed the widespread hopes here that India's V. K. Krishna Menon had found at least a formula for ending the deadlock POW issue holding up a Korean armistice.

The Russian denounced the Indian plan as "unsatisfactory and unacceptable." He said only his own resolution calling for an immediate cease-fire followed by a peace conference on prisoner repatriation and all other Korean issues would stop the fighting.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who disagreed with some points of the Menon plan as being too vague, said the United States is "wholly in agreement with the spirit of this resolution." He urged the committee to continue to seek a solution in spite of the despair Vishinsky had cast over the body.

The Menon plan, already revised along lines suggested by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, calls for a four-power commission headed by a fifth-power umpire to take charge of repatriating prisoners and to care for those who refuse to go home until a political conference decides their fate.

Acheson's praise of the broad

Special Vote Not Permitted Now On City Levy

State Law Requires 3-Month Delay, Solicitor Explains

A special levy election to raise additional funds for city payroll boosts and to meet mounting operational costs will not be held this year.

City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston explained after Council's special meeting last night that such an election, under prevailing state laws, could not be held within three months after Council adopted a resolution to that effect.

Earlier this month, at a finance committee meeting with County Auditor I. J. Vorndran, the auditor had disclosed that several district school boards were scheduling levy elections to be held within 25 days after they so declared their intent.

Upon receiving this information Mr. Hunston rechecked the records and found that, although the laws had been modified in regard to school boards, they remained unchanged in relation to municipalities.

Election Would Cost $1,500

Council has not yet adopted the necessary resolution to hold a special election. One of the deterrents has been the finance committee's declaration that $1,500 needed to finance the election is not available.

Council met last night to pass two bond ordinances to get money in anticipation of unpaid assessments to retire bank notes by which the city is already obligated for sewer installation and paving on numerous city streets.

The bond ordinances, totaling $56,300, involve no extra cost to the city, or to the taxpayers, other than assessments already levied.

Streets which had been improved by paving or sewer installation include Rose, Spring, Maple, Ninth, Roosevelt, N. Madison, E. State, Wilson, Vine, Liberty, Walnut, Arch, Fair, Lundy and Superior.

Ex-Red Confesses Role In 'Conspiracy'

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Karel Svab, 13th former top Communist to confess before a Prague court, in the current Czech purge trial, admitted today that as former deputy security minister he covered up a widespread anti-Moscow conspiracy.

Svab is one of the three non-Jews among the 14 Reds on trial for plotting to overthrow the government of President Klement Gotwald.

Only one defendant—former Deputy Defense Minister Bedrich Reicin—remained to be heard as the trial of former Communist party boss Rudolf Slansky and his associates neared its end.

Signs Point To Early Departure For War Zone

No Official Word; Benson, Adams Get Administration Posts

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters buzzed with speculation today that he may try to spend Thanksgiving Day in Korea with the GIs.

Owing to a security blackout covering all details of his trip, no official information was available.

A number of indications, however, pointed to the possibility that the President-elect is about ready to leave for the war zone. They were:

1. He has made two more key designations. After his inauguration, he will present for confirmation by the Senate Ezra Taft Benson of Salt Lake City, Utah, for secretary of agriculture. And he will name as his White House assistant, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire.

2. Gen. Mark Clark, supreme commander in the Far East, made a trip to the Korean front, presumably to map plans for Eisenhower's visit. He conferred with top ground and Air Force commanders before flying back to Tokyo.

3. The President-elect tapered off in his appointments for today, setting aside most of it for visits from friends, some relatives, and officers of Columbia University. Eisenhower has announced his resignation as the university's president effective Jan. 19.

His schedule for today contrasted sharply with the tightly packed program he has been following since he returned last week to his offices in New York.

Yesterday, he visited the United Nations headquarters, met with the Vice President-elect, Sen. Richard M. Nixon, talked with Benson and Adams and held conferences with a number of business and political figures.

The only appointments fitting that category today were with Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Great Britain and former director of the budget; Harold Talbot of the Republican Finance Committee, and Ralph Calkins, former national committeeman from Oregon.

Labor Law Change Seen

GOP Congress May Junk Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs on Capitol Hill pointed today to a major rewriting of the nation's labor law by the new Republican 83rd Congress — possibly even junking the Taft-Hartley Act.

Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), who steps up to the chairmanship of the House Labor Committee in the GOP-controlled Congress, told a reporter:

"We are certainly going to have changes in the labor-management relations law. I certainly anticipate them, but how they will be made I can't yet say."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) wants to keep the law that bears his name, but to amend it through a series of amendments.

Strong feeling is reported to exist among some GOP lawmakers for completely rewriting basic labor-management legislation—and in so doing, bury for good the controversial association of Taft-Hartley with the Republican party.

Speculation has also been reported among some labor union officials on the prospect of an entirely new law emerging from the House Labor Committee under McConnell.

As the committee's ranking minority member in the last Congress, McConnell worked out a mine safety bill satisfactory to labor, operators and the government after getting all parties around a table to compromise their differences.

McConnell was reported to have in mind the same sort of an approach to working out a new labor-management relations act to take the place of Taft-Hartley.

McConnell, an investment banker and not a lawyer, has never disguised his belief that Taft-Hartley is too legalistic and obscure to be understood readily.

Frank Cain, of Chicago, holds the unhappy fowl, and Nancy King, of Crete, Ill., wields an axe which foreshadows his eventual fate.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Cleansing, Diet For Pimples

Acne (adolescent pimples) does not constitute a problem in diagnosis. Anybody can tell what it is. But it is not a condition to ignore, and thousands of youngsters in their teens become afflicted with it each year for the first time.

Although the majority outgrow acne eventually without scarring of the skin, it comes at a time of life when youngsters are terribly self-conscious anyway, and blemishes on the skin can and do make this self-consciousness much worse.

Acne appears for the most part on the face, neck, upper part of the chest and shoulders. The pimple usually starts as a reddish lump which is slightly tender to touch. It often develops into a "white head," which actually consists of a mixture of pus, germs, skin oil and destroyed tissue cells. The pimple may be near the surface of the skin or quite deep.

In the milder cases, the pimples are spaced rather widely apart and are near the surface. In more severe ones they are closer together, break out more frequently and burrow deeper into the skin. When a white head forms, the top of the pustule finally breaks open, the pus escapes, a crust forms and healing takes place. If the pustule has been large and deep, a permanent scar may be left, though this is fortunately the exception rather than the rule.

Infection alone almost certainly does not explain the development of acne. Because acne is most common and usually most severe during the period of adolescence in both boys and girls it almost certainly has some relation to the changes in the glands and hormones which take place at that time, but hormone treatment is almost invariably disappointing.

Diet plays a part. Many, if not most, adolescents have a craving for sweets, and sweets (especially chocolate) almost invariably make acne worse, as do nuts and cheese.

Cleansing treatments, applications to the skin and general attention to the health are all indicated.

A youngster with acne should make a special effort to overcome the self-consciousness which acne brings, and should force himself or herself to take part in all social functions to which he or she would like to go otherwise.

Family and friends should be careful not to make remarks which will add to the self-consciousness. Comments on the pimples, even if done with best of intentions, only make matters worse.

Law School Education Requirements Boosted

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today boosted the amount of education a student must have to enter law schools—setting up a minimum of six years before receiving a law degree.

Under the new rule, students must have three years of college before entering law school. The rule becomes effective Jan. 1, 1954.

Under the present rule only two years pre-law study is needed, although most larger schools voluntarily demand four years.

Many Seek To Adopt Injured Cleveland Baby

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rosemary Poling doesn't know about it, but a lot of people want her for their daughter.

Rosemary, who is 3-months old, still was in Babies and Children's Hospital today, her broken legs and broken arm raised upright in a traction apparatus.

But every day, say police and the nurses, offers to adopt her keep coming in, along with toys and telephone calls of sympathy.

Rosemary has been in the hospital a week now. Her father and mother, Charles E. and Marie Poling, are in jail, charged with neglect. Police said they were too slow in taking her to the hospital.

Her father said after two days of police questioning that he dropped Rosemary. At first, neither he nor his wife would say what happened to her.

Mrs. Harley Moore of Ottawa, (Putnam County), wrote to Policewoman Cecelia Rogers: "We lost our three children in a fire in 1949. We would like to adopt Rosemary."

Rosemary's parents are waiting for a hearing in Juvenile Court.

The scroll was introduced yesterday at the trial of suits concerning RKO Studio's refusal to give Jarrico screen credit for the movie "The Las Vegas Story."

Jarrico testified yesterday the scroll was given him by the Citizens Committee to Preserve American Freedom. The document bore the signature of A. A. Heist, committee chairman.

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Salvage teams probed the cold waters of the Bush River today for the bodies of four men believed dead in the crash of a B50 Air Force bomber here yesterday.

The body of a fifth man, S. Sgt. Robert E. Lee of Springfield, O., was found floating in the water shortly after the crash.

Four others escaped when the big four-engine plane plunged into Boone's creek at the mouth of Bush River shortly after takeoff from the Army Chemical Center airfield here.

To Expand Air Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major airlines plan a broad expansion of their air-coach services this winter and next spring, the Air Transport Association said today.

Junkman

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man's life is a long war between the angel of neatness and the devil of disorder.

In my case the devil has had a hammerlock on the angel as long as I can remember.

I like it that way. My two greatest heroes of the twentieth century are the Collyers, elderly brothers who spent a lifetime filling their old brownstone mansion with fabulous junk.

Whenever I speak longingly of building a home, my wife, Frances, says:

"Where do you want to build it—in the center of the city dump?"

She has this attitude because she has spent 15 hopeless years trying to cure me of the incurable habit of collecting trash and holding on to things that perhaps were better thrown away.

"You have never learned the art of letting go of things," she says. "Don't you know that is a sign of insecurity? You save everything but your fingernail clippings, and I wouldn't be surprised to find you were storing them away someplace."

Well, I'm not that bad. But I have my own pet theory, too, about people who throw everything away — they are afraid of the past. I know a man who has such a passion for neatness that as soon as he unwraps one issue of a magazine, he throws the previous issue away, read or unread.

"I like to feel I start my life afresh every morning," he boasts proudly.

And all I can feel about him is that he must have a terrible existence.

The love of old things is a warming and sustaining thing, assuring a man of the silent company of many inanimate friendships.

Any man's mind is invariably a warehouse of the past. His home ought to be that, too. And so should his clothing. I am against the new vestless suits because they give a man four fewer pockets in which to store the souvenirs of his daily life — theater stubs, the cards of acquaintances, broken pencils, spare shoestrings, and unanswered letters.

The future home I daydream of will have, first of all, a tremendous basement and a mighty attic. The basement is for my wife to keep as bare and clean as she chooses.

"But the attic is for me to mess up anyway I want to," I tell her. "It will be locked and there will be a sign on the door saying, 'no admission—this means you.'"

"If you do I'll call the fire department and they'll break down the door with an ax, Rover," she says. "You can't create a fire hazard even on your own property. That's the law."

Law or not, I am going to fix that attic against the rainy day of retirement. It is going to have 26 big storage trunks in it, each one initiated with a letter of the alphabet. Each trunk will be a treasure box of the things along the way I have worn, or gathered, or saved — the little leftover souvenirs of that helped or hurt.

Old magazines will go in the trunk marked "M" old shoes in the one labeled "S," old letters in the one that says "A," and miscellaneous objects will be stored under "X."

"What are you going to put in the 'A' trunk — apparel or apple cores?" jeers Frances.

"Never mind," I tell her. "When I'm old and grey I'll have a wonderful time pawing through the memories in those trunks. What'll you do then?"

"I'll just put a rocking chair in the attic," says Frances, "and sit there and watch you, Rover."

"I'm not sure she's altogether against the idea. It sounds like a fine old age."

20 Killed In Rioting In South Africa

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Officials announced today the arrest of 350 persons at Kirawara in the Fort Hall Reserve, where police opened fire on a mob of 2,000 Kikuyu tribesmen and killed 15 of them Sunday.

The police action and other violence gave this troubled British East African colony its bloodiest week since the start of the drive to stamp out the terrorist activity of the anti-white Mau Mau society. The death toll was at least 20 killed, including a retired commander in the British Navy.

Possible Meeting Of Dulles, Churchill Seen

NEW YORK (AP) — A possible meeting between Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain and John Foster Dulles, U. S. secretary of state-designate, is indicated in an exchange of cables.

The exchange over the week end was released yesterday by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

Cabling congratulations to Dulles, Churchill said: "I shall look forward to talking things over with you."

Dulles, expressing thanks, replied: "As we have talked together in the past, so I hope we shall talk in the future..."

British, Aussies Drive Into Reds

Korean War Enters Its 30th Month

SEOUL (AP)—Brisk fighting on the Central and Western Fronts today ushered in the 30th month of the Korean War.

British and Australian night raiders drove into the Red lines and clashed with Chinese troops for more than eight hours. Brilliant gunfire pierced the pre-dawn darkness on the Western Front.

Allied infantrymen on the touchy Central Front stormed back at dawn and recaptured two key outposts near Red-held Jackson Heights. The Chinese had captured the positions in the night.

Gen. Mark Clark huddled with his top field commanders, then flew back to his Tokyo headquarters. The U. N. supreme commander conferred with Gen. James A. Van Fleet, boss of all Allied ground forces in Korea, and the U. S. Fifth Air Force chief, Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus.

The top brass probably discussed the forthcoming visit of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower. Clark toured the front in a light plane Monday, possibly surveying the ground Eisenhower will visit.

Temperatures climbed across the battlefield, bringing welcome relief from chilling cold.

Despite cloudy weather B26 Marauders roared over Communist supply routes last night and reported 85 Red trucks destroyed.

Barcus told AP Correspondent Robert Tuckman the Reds were making desperate efforts to increase the flow of supplies to the front. Last night's 85 trucks brought the total destroyed in the past 10 days to about 1,250.

Rising temperatures brought relief to ground troops. The British First Commonwealth Division supplied the heaviest punch in the ground fighting.

Raiders from the Royal Fusiliers drove Chinese defenders off a hill overlooking the Samchon River at 8 p.m. The Reds counterattacked, and regained the position.

The Fusiliers returned to their own lines just before dawn.

A Royal Australian regiment hit Chinese positions just to the northeast at the same time. The Aussies swept in from two directions and traded shots with the Reds for 15 minutes, before pulling back.

Thousands Pay Final Tribute To Green

COSHOCOTON, O. (AP)—William Green, a powerful labor leader to eight million American workers but a "plain man" to his home folk, was laid to rest yesterday.

The 82-year-old American Federation of Labor president, who rose from Eastern Ohio's coal pits to become one of the labor world's most powerful figures, died Friday of a heart attack.

The Rev. John H. Shanley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, where Green was a member, called Green "a plain man, grown from humble and plain surroundings to great heights, but he never forgot his fellow man."

The services were held in Grace Methodist Church because Green's church could not accommodate the persons who came to pay a last tribute to him. Seventeen hundred persons crowded inside the church, 3,000 more were on the outside and a throng lined the streets leading to the cemetery.

Last night Mrs. Jennie Green, his 82-year-old widow, listened to a tape recording of the funeral services. Bedfast from an illness of several years, Mrs. Green, tiny and white-haired, was unable to attend the last rites.

Ike Expected To Seek Broader Farm Markets Here, Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is expected to build its farm aid programs largely around efforts to broaden markets at home and abroad.

This became apparent today with President-elect Eisenhower's selection of Ezra T. Benson of Salt Lake City to be secretary of agriculture to succeed Charles F. Brannan, a controversial figure in the Truman official family.

Benson is a trained specialist in agricultural marketing, and as such believes farmers would need less federal aid if they did a better job of marketing their products.

Benson's designation fits into a long-standing Republican contention that farm programs of the Roosevelt-Truman administrations depended too heavily upon production controls and subsidies to hold up farm prices.

Republicans have promised to continue farm price support programs but they argue that need for them would be greatly lessened if new markets and outlets for farm surpluses could be developed.

Benson said in New York yesterday he agreed with Eisenhower's farm policy statements and the GOP party platform on the subject, but he declined to discuss specific programs except to say he favored some price supports. Eisenhower pulled something of a surprise on farm leaders in selecting Benson who had not been prominently mentioned for the post.

Benson headed one of the major national organizations—the National Council of Farmer Co-operatives—between 1939 and 1944, but that was at a time when agriculture was faced more with the problem of producing enough for war needs rather than a problem of overproduction.

He left the co-operative council post in 1944 to become an apostle for the Mormon church.

The new secretary is expected to:

1. Place great emphasis on use of the co-operative idea in attacking farm problems of production and marketing.
2. Urge farmers to follow a practice of depending more on local self-help and less on federal aid.
3. Place special emphasis upon measures aimed at showing farmers how to become more efficient producers and marketeers.
4. Make greater use of state-controlled agricultural extension services than have his New Deal and "Fair Deal" predecessors.

GOP Congressman Cautions Against Letting Down Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), chairman-designate of the House Armed Services Committee, cautioned today against "letting down our guard" if a truce is agreed upon in Korea.

Comfort For Taxpayers Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau has instructed its field offices to make things easier for taxpayers when taxpaying time comes around next year.

Outlining a new program to go into effect from Jan. 1 to March 17, Assistant Commissioner of Internal Revenue Justin Winkle told field officers in a letter made public today that taxpayers must find a "new and improved service" this time.

Winkle emphasized that by tax time an eight-month reorganization of the bureau will have been completed, and taxpayers seeking help with their returns will have "their first real opportunity to observe how reorganization affects them personally."

Tax officials not only expect to give better service but they expect more work. There were some 54 million tax returns last year and the bureau expects from 57 to 58 million this year.

Winkle made these down-to-earth suggestions on how tax offices should help simplify things for taxpayers:

1. Don't close the door in the face of taxpayers just because official office hours are over.
2. Man telephones to answer queries in the evenings, during lunch hours and on Saturdays. All offices to stay open until midnight the last night before returns are due.
3. Put out some chairs and benches for those who have been standing in line and make sure there are chairs for all the aged and infirm.
4. Monitors should be on hand to question puzzled taxpayers before they join a queue and to divide them into lines for different categories of information so that no one waits in line only to learn his question is being answered elsewhere.
5. As nearly as possible personnel assigned to information booths and as monitors should be "female revenue agents" and they should be rotated frequently "to avoid the risk of normal irritation stemming from having to answer similar questions over and over again."

Short, who describes himself as neither an isolationist nor a militarist, said he believes there can be substantial savings made in next year's and subsequent military budgets.

"We must guard against the mistake we have made in the past—disarming too soon," he said in an interview. "While our ultimate goal should be world disarmament, we must keep strong as long as times remain as they now are."

"We must build up, rather than reduce, our military strength," he added.

Short, who describes himself as neither an isolationist nor a militarist, said he believes there can be substantial savings made in next year's and subsequent military budgets.

"We must cut federal expenses if we are to preserve our economy, which is our main strength," he declared. "With the military budget taking about 80 cents out of every tax dollar, it is obvious that it affords the place for the heaviest reductions."

But he emphasized that he doesn't favor budget-cutting at the expense of preparedness.

"I believe we can sharply reduce the military budget," he said, "without reducing the strength of our military forces by a single man or a single weapon or warplane. There is entirely too much waste now and by stopping it we can save billions."

Supreme Court Opens Way For Nelson Trial

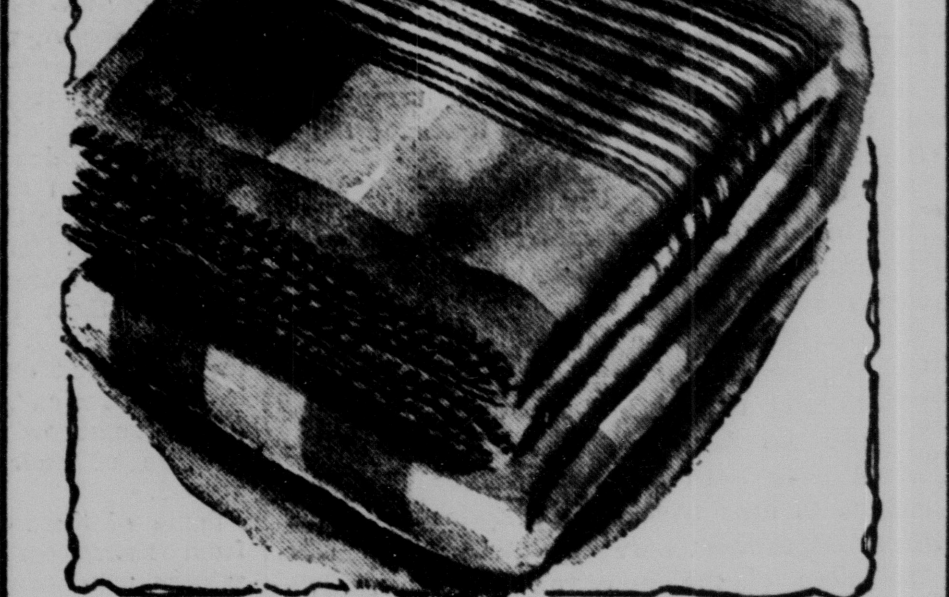

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court has refused to bar the trial in Pittsburgh of Communist organizer Steve Nelson and four other persons on charges of plotting to teach or advocate overthrow of the United States government by force.

Nelson and the others asked the supreme court to stay trial proceedings and order the case transferred to some other district because of "public passion (and) prejudice against Communists" in Pittsburgh.

From Top To Bottom

John Foster Dulles has been over-dramatic in his first move to lift suspicion from the State Department.

Mr. Dulles, before becoming secretary of state in the Eisenhower cabinet, will have been investigated exhaustively by the FBI at his own request. "There is going to be no taint of suspicion about the new State Department," he promises. "That goes for the top, for the bottom and for all in between."

Those too young to remember when this would have been unthinkable may live long enough to hear from their historians why the State Department bore a taint of suspicion at the close of the Roosevelt-Truman era. So far, the source of the taint is problematic. It is something more complex than disloyalty, which is the very explanation favored by partisan critics.

Political accusations to one side, it seems likely the source ultimately may be traced to the mental immaturity which made it impossible for men who lacked hard-headed judgment to appraise other men ruthlessly enough to take full advantage of this deficiency.

Every possible reason but this one has been explored in the search for the source of the historic blunders which weakened the free world after World War II. The new secretary of state might do better to give his personnel intelligence tests than merely to certify their patriotism through loyalty tests. A man can be a patriot and still be a fool.

Escalator: Down

Walter Reuther, president of United Auto Workers, says he does not believe the drop in the consumers' price index which automatically cuts a cent an hour off wage rates for a million auto and airplane workers represents a decline in the cost of living. He therefore doubts that a lower wage rate is justified.

It is not recalled that any such disbelief was expressed when rises in the price index caused hourly wage rates to increase. It remains to be seen whether or not these famed escalator clauses in labor contracts will work on the way down.

While some diehard inflationists question that value is about to be restored to the value of dollars, the statistical evidence suggests that inflation has reached its peak.

Early in 1951, the index of wholesale prices hit 116.5, compared with a 1947-1949 base of 100. The wholesale price index has declined steadily since then. This foreshadows an eventual decline in the consumers' index; i.e., a rise in the value of dollars.

In 1939, the index of dollar purchasing power stood at approximately 100. In July and August of this year, the index stood at 52. It now has started to rise, though it has a long way to go before it returns to its 53.8 average for 1951. When World War II ended in 1945, the purchasing power of the dollar was rated 77.9. Postwar inflation policies caused it to drop, year by year and month by month.

Reversal of those policies is the first aim of the incoming administration. This will be met with determined opposition. Mr. Reuther's objection is a sign of what's coming.

Kill Taft-Hartley?

Probably the safest bet in the world right now is that the Taft-Hartley Act won't be repealed. It is going to be amended, however, with Sen. Taft proposing most of the amendments.

His purpose, which is beginning to be understood by many union members formerly duped by misinformation and worse, is to preserve collective bargaining in the United States.

The Taft-Hartley Act is the charter of collective bargaining. It contains intact all the rights which were guaranteed to unions under the original Wagner Act. But the Taft-Hartley Act balances those rights with rights guaranteed to employers and to employees who formerly lacked protection against either employers or unions.

Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, though it is still being yammered about by union bosses, who are either ignorant or so cynical they assume everybody else is ignorant, would destroy organized labor's right to bargain collectively.

That right is guaranteed in no other place in the federal statutes. Sen. Taft, having survived the smears and abuses of a long line of union bosses, will take the leadership in preserving the Taft-Hartley Act by improving it with such amendments as have been shown to be necessary to preserve the rights of organized labor in the United States.

Orderly Government

By DAVID LAWRENCE

First Things First In Eisenhower's Creed

The orderly mind — the kind of mind that puts first things first, that cuts through the mass of words to get at the heart of a matter, that picks able men and then gives them the authority to operate on their own — this is to be the governing influence of the Eisenhower administration.

Change is coming in the Washington climate. The Cabinet appointments already announced by President-elect Eisenhower indicate it. No longer will the political class consciousness reign which fears to appoint an able man to an important post in government because he comes from big industry.

No longer will a prospective appointee be sized up from the point of view "what will labor say?" or "what will the attack be from the opposition?"

The only questions that will be asked when making appointments is whether the man is able, whether he is honest, whether he knows how to serve faithfully his new client — the people of the United States — and whether he can do the job for which he was selected.

The Truman and Roosevelt administrations in the past also have picked men from the ranks of business or from Wall Street and some of them have made good but always, with a few exceptions, they have felt out of place — as if the "left wing" liberals in Washington somehow suspected them because of their previous background.

Some of them were never free from newspaper attack by the snipers who were encouraged by "left wing" elements inside the administration and fed bits of gossip to undermine public confidence in those officials.

Thus James Forrestal, first secretary of defense, had come out of a big investment banking house in Wall Street. So had William H. Draper and so have Averell Harriman and Robert Lovett, but Harriman cultivated the "left wing" and gave the impression that he was ashamed of his background or that he felt he would make political progress if he moved over to the "left" and disavowed his earlier principles.

There isn't a reason in the world why able men shouldn't be selected for government posts whether they come from big business or big finance or Wall Street or from big unionism.

Once upon a time President Harding toyed with the idea of making John L. Lewis his secretary of labor and one wonders what recent history would have been like in the field of labor-management disputes if the talents and organizing genius of Lewis had been utilized in behalf of the government instead of for a single industrial union.

When President-elect Eisenhower announced that he had des-signed George M. Humphrey to be the secretary of the treasury, the "left wing" could be heard saying "I told you so," for here is a man from the steel industry whose activities have been largely in the intricate field of merger finance in industry.

But here, on the other hand, is a man who isn't concerned with any theory of conservatism or radicalism as such but asks himself always "what is the sound thing to do?"

Here is a man also who doesn't know the meaning of the phrase: "It can't be done."

When almost everybody in the industrial world thought that the development of the Labrador area for iron ore, so much needed to protect America's steel supply in the future, couldn't be accomplished, George Humphrey said it could be. His vision has brought the whole development into fruition.

An able lawyer, Mr. Humphrey has learned about finance and the sound uses of invested capital through years of indefatigable work.

His brain now is being hired for the secretaryship of the treasury and the moment he takes the oath of office nobody will get any favors and all citizens will be treated fairly and equitably—the same simple and inexorable rule applied by the big and efficiently managed companies which are entrusted with huge sums of money borrowed from the public.

This is something unlearned critics in the college classrooms who have been fed perennial prejudices never learn.

The Treasury Department with its vast responsibilities now will feel the touch of business efficiency, practicality and soundness plus the all-important requirement — integrity.

Whether it's Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, who becomes secretary of defense or John Foster Dulles, the new secretary of state, or Herbert Brownell, the prospective attorney general or George Humphrey, the secretary of the treasury or Gov. Douglas McKay, who is to be the secretary of the interior, the theme of the new administration is to be orderliness.

This contrasts with confusion, opportunistic thinking, and the class-conscious and political approach which during the last 20 years has made of the words "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" a mockery of their original meaning.

The American people voted for a change — and they will get it. They'll get it still more in a practical-minded foreign policy when President-elect Eisenhower has looked things over in Korea, for this is the key to the national and international policy-making of tomorrow.

Head of Steam

By TRUMAN TWILL

An amiable egghead of our acquaintance was saying this morning that he had in mind a column he'd like to write about eggheads in politics.

Since the chances are against his doing this, we are going to write it for him. But first we had to inquire what a political egghead is.

He was surprised that we didn't know. An egghead in modern politics, he pointed out, is so named because he is an intellectual and therefore a shade smarter than other people; i.e., his "head" gives him away.

An egghead has no aversion to brains as such and can be relied on to go hook, like and sinker for the intellectual approach to any given problem. That is the setup.

He has a speaking acquaintance with the pattern of intellectualism, shudders all over at the sound of the word "conservative" and takes bright-eyed pride in sharing the "liberal" approach to public problems.

The heaviest concentration of eggheads is to be found on the campuses of the colleges, in the ranks of college teachers and among the literati. Their identification badge is at least one academic degree, with oak leaf for post-graduate diligence in pursuing the spine-tingling ideals they first discovered when they were sophomores and knew everything there was to know about everything there was to know.

They are lovely people, eggheads — the kind you'd like to have over for dinner and a chat. If you could keep them from talking over your head, everybody would be happy. And if you didn't happen to think of the possibility they might talk over your head, you would be an egghead yourself.

This egghead of our acquaintance was going to write about his kind of people in politics, however, not eggheads in general. He seemed to think they had taken a beating in the recent fracas in the polling places; he indicated he felt bitter about this. We don't know why he should.

That's why we decided not to wait for him to write a piece he probably would never get started. We feel a little better, ourselves, on the subject of eggheads.

Some of us who have been variously described in recent years as flatheads, hardheads, knuckleheads, pinheads, squareheads, cheeseheads, woodenheads, pointyheads, rock-heads and bubbleheads by some of the country's more vociferous eggheads have been getting up a head of steam. We steamheads reject the assumption there is a connection between academic knowledge and political savvy. We reject the snobbish assumption that any particular group in this country has a full-Nelson on brain power.

There are eggheads whom we'd trust with our life, our liberty and our sacred honor. Our amiable egghead acquaintance is one of these. There also are illiterates we'd trust. It has nothing to do with literacy. It's a matter of character, intelligence and good intentions, backed up by enough practical experience to identify third base without a diagram.

Some eggheads have it, some don't. We flatheads are in the same predicament. And exactly like the eggheads, we hate to admit it when we're caught short.

Some Petrels spend most of their time on or over water, going to land only for nesting.

Some Cabinet Appointments

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Of the various names that had been suggested for secretary of State, only John Foster Dulles had any far Eastern as well as European experience. He has known far Eastern affairs intimately and for a long time. Co-author with Sen. Vandenberg of the so-called bi-partisan foreign policy, he entered the State Department as a Republican, only to be disillusioned by the policies and practices of the Democrats, who usually acted first and consulted afterwards.

He was an important factor at the San Francisco Conference where the Charter of the United Nations was written.

HE ARRANGED the Japanese Peace Treaty and tried to establish an Asiatic alliance which would have included Formosa.

John Foster Dulles's grandfather, John W. Foster, was secretary of state in the administration of President Harrison. His uncle, Robert Lansing, was secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson.

His brother, Allen Dulles, was active in the OSS, particularly in the efforts to shorten the war by revolution in Germany against Hitler; he is now the number two man in the Central Intelligence Agency.

Dulles will bring to the State Department not only a broad personal experience but a family tradition of international relations based upon the assumption that America must not be sacrificed.

His view, often written and spoken, must have the full support of Gen. Eisenhower who is not buying a pig in a poke.

IN FACT, with the exception of Herbert Hoover, no Republican has so often presented his party's position, which, while never isolationistic, has also never been so internationalistic that America is to be regarded as nothing more than a fat cow to be milked until dry.

While commitments made since 1938 cannot be abandoned, it may, with some confidence, be expected that policies will be re-appraised and put on a more realistic basis in which the survival of the United States, as a great power, will not be subordinated to the necessities of all other countries without due regard to our own.

Gen. Eisenhower's appointments thus far represent not so much political apportionment as a regard for efficient operations. C. E. Wilson, of General Motors—who must be identified in this manner to distinguish him from the C. E. Wilson of General Electric—will bring to the Department of Defense the capacity for organization and production which that department has not had since it was founded.

JAMES FORRESTAL was the founder and imaginative spirit who envisioned the concept of a unified military establishment. He gave his life to that cause. Louis Johnson had to battle against difficult opposition for a program designed by the President which not only proved unpopular but which was wrecked by the Korean war. Gen. George Marshall was neither by temperament nor tradition suitable for a civilian post and spoiled a great reputation in the three such posts he held. Robert A. Lovett has done an outstanding job.

It is fortunate that he will be followed by C. E. Wilson, who has the advantage of being a production man rather than a banker. It is on the production side that our defenses are weakest, despite our superiority in productive capacity.

GEN. EISENHOWER has pledged himself to eliminate waste in the armed forces. As a commanding general and as a former chief-of-staff, he understands the nature and reason for waste.

He puts at the head of the national defense one who has long been associated with one of the best managed productive companies of the United States.

It is to be assumed that what Gen. Eisenhower has in mind is the application of the most tested principles of management to the problems of national defense.

One of the difficulties that the civilian heads of defense establishments encounter is that the generals and admirals insist on their methods and their specifications as the only ones that will work; otherwise the country will be conquered and lost forever.

It will be difficult for any military man to tell that to General Eisenhower. It will be equally difficult to tell that to C. E. Wilson who is even now sitting on the other side of the table, making what the army has ordered. This combination of knowledge brought into defense ought to be unbeatable.

Defense and State Departments have had a way of fighting over foreign policy. It is not likely that C. E. Wilson will invade John Foster Dulles's domain.

Wage Earners

By WALTER BREEDER JR.

NEW YORK (U-P) — Who's better off—the white collar employee in the front office or the production worker in the shop?

Business leaders disagree. Some say the accountant, bookkeeper, stenographer and filing clerk never had it so good. Others point to the higher pay of the tool and die maker or the man behind the turret lathe. According to this school of thought the white collar man is industry's poor relation.

People who see hard times ahead for the office force cite the growth of office mechanization. Electronic business machines of amazing complexity and efficiency are making many clerical skills unnecessary, they assert.

A case in point: The Bell Telephone Mfg. Co. in Antwerp, Belgium, has perfected an electronic mail sorter. Mailing addresses pass before the operators on a pneumatic system and the operators press little levers indicating the distribution route the mail should take. What it means is this: Four machine operators can do the work formerly accomplished in the same length of time by 70 mail sorters.

Similar labor-saving features are provided by new and more efficient dictating, billing, accounting, bookkeeping, check writing, addressing, duplicating and tabulating machines—by pushbutton-operated filing systems that enable a clerk to select one of many hundreds of thousands of cards in a split second, by postage meters, electronic "brains," calculating machines and electric typewriters. C. Wright Mills, associate professor of sociology at Columbia University, recently told an office management conference here that office mechanization has put an end to the prestige, security and favored financial position once enjoyed by the white collar worker.

Before mechanization, he said, the white collar worker made about double the income of hourly rated wage earners but today his income is "only slightly above, and in several important cases lower than, the average income of various wage-working groups."

On the other side of the fence, the American Management Association presents in its monthly magazine, "Personnel," the following results of an employment survey in the Cleveland industrial area: The white collar man in industry is happy and content, says the survey.

He has more freedom than his colleague in the plant. Usually he can smoke when he wants to. He can make personal calls on the office phone.

His work is cleaner and safer; there's less danger of getting an arm amputated or a leg smashed.

The office employee is more likely to get a Christmas bonus and he's more certain of a steady annual wage. The plant worker is constantly subject to layoffs and temporary unemployment.

When the union wins a pay raise for the men in the shop, the non-union office force usually gets a raise, too.

Because he's closer to management, the office worker has better opportunities for advancement.

But his average pay, the article concedes, is lower.

Handling bushels of cheery Christmas cards and packages probably isn't being enjoyed much by the Democratic appointed postmasters. It only reminds them they may not be around next year.

Once Over

News Newsreel

During Ike's visit to the White House, President Truman was so uncomfortable he complained, "I never had to go through a thing like this under the Democrats." . . . Harvey Georges took the only photo of Harry and Ike in the huddle and it will live in history as one of the best pictures of the Polar regions ever snapped.

An ironworker, an undertaker and a plasterer, the New York crime probe brought out, are among the scores of nonlawyers getting soft jobs as judges' secretaries . . . It is not so strange when you realize that all big cities have some judges whose only requirement of a secretary is that he get the late scratch sheets and find out if they are really trying in the fifth race.

From Poultrymen' — headline. (He got a much bigger bird from the voters.) . . . This is one year, says the office tory, when we could reverse the situation and give Truman to the turkeys.

Mickey Rooney at 32 has taken his fourth wife. . . . The kid is determined to prove he is big enough to go around with girls.

Eisenhower has resigned as head of Columbia. . . . Probably feels that Morningside Heights is all right for a vacation but he wouldn't want to live there forever. . . . And, anyhow, those college-cut clothes of Columbia wouldn't go so well with a Potomac hairshirt.

One of the ex-convicts grilled by the New York Crime Commission is now working in a hardware store and we wonder what his reactions are when a customer comes in and asks, "Can you tell me anything about locks?"

Broadway Capsule Critiques: Mrs. McThing' (Little Boy BOO-OO). . . . "My Darlin' Aida" (Paul Verdi). . . . "The Deep Blue Sea" (Girl Meets Semi-Boy). . . . "Time of the Cuckoo" (Dial V for Venice). . . . "The Millionaire" (Hepburn Tries for the Rose Bowl). . . . "The Four Poster" (Bedtime Story). . . . "Craig's Wife" stands among Broadway TV Theater's best efforts, but Mildred Dunnoch played the wife as a 100 per cent meanie whereas the Kelly idea was a wife who had moments of beauty and charm.

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, the first clergy man ever to raise two million for charity through a video show, is back as gripping as ever, again on the same hour as Milton Berle and commands such a terrific audience that he could be called "Uncle Fudie." . . . Has such a grand sense of humor he wouldn't mind it, either.

What Harry and Ike said to each other didn't interest us so much. . . . The sensational thing would be to know what they DIDN'T SAY. . . .

Larry McPhail had so much trouble over his new racing strip he can describe the entire week as a strip-tease.

Kentucky, it seems, finally goes to Stevenson by 700 votes. . . . We still can't figure out how that state ever got the idea Ike would abolish mint juleps. . . . One story is that when Eisenhower and Truman shook hands last week and released their clasp, four snowbirds flew out.

"Under the Red Set" (a documentary movie of fish life, not of the Commie infiltration) is a wonderful picture which records everything except a Niantic River scollop calling for its mate.

Chief magistrate Murtaugh of Gotham has to be extra careful where he parks his car, and for how long.

Our idea of a backward kid is a child in a TV home who has reached the age of seven and can only name ten brands of beer.

Comment on the much ballyhooed dedicatory program from the 12-million dollar Television City in California: "The mountain labored and brought forth a Jack Benny."

Morton Downey is reported among those boomed for next mayor of New York.

Gotham is so heavily in the red it may think it could benefit from a little brilliant green. . . . If Impellitteri, out of Ansonia, Connecticut, could make it, why not Downey, a Wallingford, Connecticut, boy who made good in the city?

Eniwetok, testing place of the hydrogen bomb, has an ugly sound and may turn out to be world ruin spelled backwards. . . . Human progress as typified by the H-Bomb: From Adam & Eve to Frankenstein and Hyde. . . .

Despite the bad condition of the racing strip, Bowie has been so beautified by Larry MacPhail that it may yet be called MacPhailmont Park. . . . Or even Hiahlarry.

"I Love Lucy" is still top fun, but the program got its appeal through credible situations and is now making a dangerous switch to wholly unbelievable stories.

Adams Named As Assistant To Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—New Hampshire's Gov. Sherman Adams is stepping into one of the toughest—and potentially one of the most influential—jobs in the Eisenhower administration.

President-elect Eisenhower announced yesterday that he will name the 53-year-old Adams, who served as his campaign chief of staff, to the post John R. Steelman has held under President Truman.

Full title of this $20,000 a year job is "assistant to the president." That doesn't tell the whole story, though the No. 1 presidential assistant actually is the eyes and ears of the man who sits behind the President's desk—the liaison man between the President and most of the federal departments and agencies.

It's this man who transmits White House policy to the Cabinet members and others who are expected to follow it. And it's the same man, with quick, frequent access to the President, who keeps the chief executive informed about what the various officials and agencies are doing.

The assistant can make recommendations, and in the normal course of events he has more opportunity to make them than anyone else. Consequently the assistant to the President is a man much sought after in official Washington. He gets invited to all the best parties.

This job hasn't been in existence very long. It evolved from the old World War I post of war mobilization director, which President Franklin D. Roosevelt established in an effort to keep peace among various agencies.

But it wasn't until Truman picked Steelman to carry on similar duties after the war that the present title of the post "the assistant to the president," was created.

Salem WCTU Observes 70th Anniversary

The 70th anniversary of the Salem Women's Christian Temperance Union was observed Monday evening at the home of Miss Pearl Walker, Franklin St.

"There was a large and attentive audience present," composed of Salem women, for the organization meeting which was held Nov. 24, 1882 in the First Friends Church, according to records.

Mrs. Woodbridge, president of the state organization, was a guest and Dr. Fry was leader for the devotions.

Officers were named at a second meeting Nov. 27, 1882, which was held in Temperance Hall. They included:

President, Mrs. M. M. Wetmore; general vice president, Mrs. Mary B. Anison; vice presidents, Miss Hannah Fogg, Friends Church, Mr. David Garwood, Christian Church, Mrs. A. B. Farquhar, Methodist Church, and Miss Lizzie Wilson, Presbyterian Church; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary F. Woodruff; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. A. Goucher; and treasurer, Mrs. E. A. Sturgeon.

The records also show Mrs. Farquhar and Mrs. Sturgeon were named to represent the union at the Columbian County WCTU convention which was held the following day in Damascus.

Mrs. Alvin Barton, president, read a letter from Mrs. Esther M. Madsen of Columbus, state president, which revealed that 1953 will mark the 80th anniversary of the Ohio WCTU. As a part of Ohio's celebration, a membership drive has been inaugurated, with a goal of 8,000. The national organization reports that 32 states made a gain in members last year.

During the year just closed, Ohio lost more than 700 White Ribbons by death. This makes a total of 2,000 in the past three years.

All members participated in the devotions, directed by Mrs. Barton. Plans to promote the work of the union were discussed.

Miss Walker reviewed the book, "Memorials of Prison Life," written by Rev. James B. Finney, who began his duties as chaplain at the Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, April 2, 1846. The prison housed 445 convicts at that time. Of that number only 297 could read and write.

Of the convicts sentenced for life, nearly all were men who had committed crimes while under the influence of liquor. Rev. Finney promoted a Sunday school and established a church at the prison. The Dec. 29 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Barton, N. Ellsworth Ave.

WIN PRIZES AT MEETING
Mrs. William Lutz and Mrs. William Hunter Jr. won the prizes in the games and contests which entertained members of the N.C. Club Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Moffett on the Middletown Rd.

There will be gift exchange and secret pals will be revealed at the Christmas party Dec. 30 when Mrs. Gail Barchy will be hostess in her home on the Ellsworth Rd.

Welcome to the group was given by Mrs. Russell Smith and Mrs. Martin Lee Roth, presidents of the two clubs.

Corn stalks, leaves and corn itself was used by Mrs. Huffman in showing what can be done by arranging the simple things found in the home, fields and garden. She pointed out that a basic arrangement could be transposed into a specialty for Thanksgiving and then changed for Christmas.

Mrs. William Fenton Ross of the Salem Garden Club program committee introduced the speaker. A summary of events of the present and future were given by Mrs. W. D. King. She told of the annual Christmas meeting of the Garden Clubs of Ohio to be held in Cleveland Dec. 5. A bus will take members of both clubs to Cleveland, leaving at 8:30 a.m. from the Memorial Building.

The 1953 Ohio Sesquicentennial also was discussed by Mrs. King, who told of the various flower festivals throughout the United States. The tea planned by the Youngstown Garden Forum, to which the Salem Clubs are affiliated, was announced for Dec. 9.

As hostesses for the program, the Salem Garden Club members presented each Garden Study member with a packet of crucifix bulbs. The Study Club arranged the refreshments served at the social hour.

The refreshment committee included Mrs. Russell Moore, Mrs. Frederick Koeneich, Mrs. Richard Lawrence, Mrs. Lee Christen and Miss Elinor Currier. Fruit spilled out the crystal horn of plenty on the attractively appointed refreshment table lighted by tall tapers. The fruit arrangement was made by Mrs. Koeneich and Mrs. Moore.

Wayne Ickes Awarded 1952 K. Of C. Trophy

End John Baker Chosen Captain

Coach Lewis, Speaker, Lauds Fred Csepke

Wayne Ickes, senior guard, was awarded the Knights of Columbus trophy and John Baker, junior end, was announced as the Quakers' 1953 grid captain when the Boosters Club was host to the Salem High School football team at a banquet Monday night in the Memorial Building. About 275 persons attended.

Rev. Fr. Edward Varble, representing the K. of C., made the presentation to Ickes, a four-year football veteran. The trophy is given to the senior Quaker grid player placing the highest academically.

Baker, who was a standout at his end position all season, will guide Salem's fortunes through the 1953 campaign. A group of promising sophomores introduced at the banquet by Head Coach Ben Barrett are expected to make his captaincy a successful one.

Guest speaker Art Lewis, head football coach at West Virginia University told the audience that education at West Virginia is not being sacrificed for the sake of turning out a good football team. Lewis stressed that every player who gets a chance for an athletic scholarship should make the most out of the educational advantages which come his way.

Education is paramount, he said, for any player enrolled at his university. Being out for football is a handicap because of the hard work involved, but those with enough initiative will succeed. Those are the type of athletes the university wants, Lewis said.

In talking on subsidization, Lewis said West Virginia operates openly and above board, in accordance with the rules of the Southern Conference. A ball player at his university gets his room, board, tuition, books and $15 a month.

He rapped schools who make all kinds of enticing offers to prospective stars but never live up to them. He especially criticized schools which cancel a student's scholarship when he gets hurt and is unable to play.

No athlete will lose his scholarship if he "is injured while playing for us," the coach declared.

Lewis had high praise for Fred Csepke, 1952 Salem High graduate who as a freshman made the varsity this season at West Virginia. Csepke, who has possibilities of being a top football player at the university, will get a letter, he added.

Csepke has the initiative and ambition to bet ahead, Lewis said. "Those are the kind of boys we want," the coach concluded.

Ray Reasbeck was toastmaster and Coach Barrett introduced his coaches—John Cabas, Vince Crawford and Carl Zellner—and members of the football squad.

Rev. R. J. Hunter gave the invocation and retiring Booster President James Jackson greeted the players and guests.

The cross country team—coached by Kenneth Jacobs—the football team and her court and cheerleaders were guests, along with visiting coaches.

Cage Rules Session Set For City Teams, Public

Players signed up with teams entered in the men's and girls' city leagues and the general public are invited to attend the basketball rules meeting which will be conducted tonight at 8 in the Memorial Building, Ward Zeller, city recreational director, said today.

Changes in the rules will be explained by the two regular cage officials—Al Catlos and Tom Nedelka. Prior to the meeting, the girls will convene at 7:30 to reorganize their league.

Joslin, Jacoby To Captain OSU

Are First Co-Captains Since 1938 Season

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—End Bob Joslin of Middletown and tackle George Jacoby of Toledo were named Monday night as co-captains of the Ohio State University football team for 1953.

Buckeye lettermen named the pair and the selections were announced before 1,200 persons at the annual football Appreciation Dinner on the campus.

Joslin and Jacoby, both juniors, will be the first Ohio co-captains since 1938.

Joslin, 20, is a 5-11, 220-pounder who plays both offense and defense. He was named Monday to the All-Big Ten squad.

Joslin, 21, is an even six feet and weighs 187 pounds. He was one of the prime targets for the passes of quarterback John Borton this year and snagged two touchdowns passes in Saturday's 27-7 triumph over arch-rival Michigan.

The Buck coaches named Borton, a sophomore, the Ohio State Journal Quarterback Award winner as the first-year player who showed the most improvement. It was the 13th annual Journal award.

Senior back Fred Bruney, 177-pound standout who also was selected on the Big Ten squad, received the first annual Sigma Alpha Epsilon Trophy as the outstanding player in the homecoming victory over Michigan.

Bruney intercepted three Wolverine passes to stop first half drives and ended his collegiate career with one of the most outstanding defensive performances in Ohio's grid history.

Bivins Or Charles To Get Title Shot

CHICAGO (AP)—A crack at the heavyweight title was the prize dangled today before Jimmy Bivins and Ezzard Charles, who will meet in a 10-round heavyweight battle Wednesday night in the Chicago Stadium.

James D. Norris, International Boxing Club president, announced the victor will be matched in June with the winner of the heavyweight title fight between champion Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott. The Marciano-Walcott fight is to be held in March at a site to be selected.

Charles is trying to become the first heavyweight champion to regain his title. Bivins, a spoiler of note who has defeated several champions during his long career, will be gunning for his first shot at the heavyweight title.

Charles says he will weigh about 185 for the fight while Bivins is aiming at 183. The fight will be broadcast and telecast nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System (10 p. m. EST).

Notre Dame Is Set To Topple Trojans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, out of contention for top national football honors, are preparing an all-out drive Saturday to topple Rose Bowl-bound Southern California from the undefeated ranks and be crowned the country's upset king.

With the traditional contest a sell-out of more than 57,000 fans, officials of both schools have asked the National Collegiate Athletic Association for permission to televise the game nationally or at best on the West coast and Big Ten areas.

The Army-Navy contest at Philadelphia is scheduled for national viewers Saturday and the NCAA rule permits only one such country-wide TV showing each week.

Notre Dame twice this season has bounced up from the underdog role to knock off previously undefeated powerhouses. The Irish spilled Purdue, Big Ten co-champion, 26-14, and three weeks later pulled one of the biggest surprises of the season with a 27-21 decision over Oklahoma.

Early in the season they upset Texas, the Southwest champion and Cotton Bowl host, 14-3, at Austin, Tex.

afternoon the team is scrimmaging Struthers in the spacious Columbian gym, where the locals open their regular season Dec. 12.

Another scrimmage at Boardman is scheduled Friday morning. Coach John Cabas is continuing the two-day workouts for his cagers, with one scheduled for Thanksgiving Day.

Cabas says he will select the biggest part of his varsity and reserve teams this week.

On Saturday the Cabasmen journey to East Liverpool to take part in a preview session. Both varsity and reserve outfits will take part, each playing three games of 12 minutes.

Other teams participating besides Salem will be Toronto, Wellsville and East Liverpool.

The first game starts at 8 p.m. Faculty Manager Fred Cope said that no advance tickets have been sent, but the Memorial Auditorium in East Liverpool has large seating capacity and it shouldn't be too hard to get good seats at the door.

A large delegation of fans is expected to follow the team as the curtain raises on the 1952-53 local cage season.

Cross Country Record Broken In NCAA Event

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A brilliant new record time of 19:36.7 was set in the four mile NCAA cross country run here Monday by Charlie Capozzoli, a one-man entry from Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., who weighs only 125 pounds.

Michigan State barely edged out Indiana with a low of 65 points to 68 for the Hoosiers to win the team title. Iowa was third with 103 points and Syracuse and Penn State tied for fourth with 110 points each.

Capozzoli smashed the old record time of 19:52.3 set by Bob Black, "The Flying Skeleton" of Rhode Island State in 1948.

Miami of Ohio finished sixth with 145 points and Oberlin College ran 13th with 310 points.

INDIANS SCHEDULE GAMES

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will play 37 exhibition games during spring training, 23 of them against their perennial pre-season rivals, the New York Giants.

Roger Bowman, southpaw pitcher for the New York Giants, is a student at Colgate University during the off-season.

Maryland's Downfall Laid To Bowl-Fever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bowl fever was the cause of it all, says Maryland head coach Jim Tatum in agreeing with its president that poor coaching brought defeat in the one-night Terrapins' last two games.

"I'm sorry that I could not be the leader that Dr. Byrd thought I should be," Tatum said at Jacksonville, Fla., Monday night. That was his comment on University President H. C. Byrd's criticism of Maryland football coaching "from November on." Tatum said Byrd was "exactly right" and continued:

"For three weeks our team has not been able to do anything right. I spent most of my energy being concerned whether or not we were going to a bowl."

"I didn't think Maryland should go to a bowl as it was against the conference rules. . . . Yet I knew the boys wanted to go and as coach I didn't want to be the man to stop them. I'm afraid I spent all my mental energy and a great deal of my time being concerned with this instead of with Ole Miss and Alabama."

Until two weeks ago, the Terrapins' record sparkled—1952 Sugar Bowl champions, winners of 22 straight games and ranked number two in the nation behind Michigan State, the team it beat three years ago to vault into bigtime college football.

Then came Waterloo, a double dose: First it was Mississippi 21-14 and last Saturday, Alabama 27-7.

Santa Clara Coach Joins Browns Staff

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Clara's head football coach, Dick Gallagher, resigned Monday to rejoin the professional Cleveland Browns as an assistant in personnel work. His $12,000 a year contract at Santa Clara had a year to run.

Gallagher's three-year record here is seven wins, 18 losses, and two ties, with one game to play—San Jose State on Thanksgiving.

The head of the Santa Clara Board of Athletic Control, the Rev. Wilfred H. Crowley, accepted Gallagher's resignation "with regret." He said "there will be no change in policy in the conduct of inter-collegiate athletics at Santa Clara." Gallagher was end coach and scout for the Browns before he came to Santa Clara in 1950. He starts his new duties of assisting in selecting pro draft choices Dec. 1. He did not report his salary.

Sportsman Building Jet-Propelled Racer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A jet-propelled automobile rocketing over a straightaway course at 450 miles an hour is the goal of Ab Jenkins, race driver and former mayor of Salt Lake City.

Jenkins says the auto is being built at a cost of $50,000. Its jet engine will develop 3,000-horsepower at 375 miles an hour and eliminate the need for a clutch, flywheel, gear box and differential.

Jenkins says he expects to drive it in 1954. He will be 71 then.

Michigan State Retains First

USC 2nd, Georgia Tech Third In Weekly Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan State's undefeated football powerhouse, which closed out its season with a whopping 62-13 victory over Marquette Saturday, was voted the nation's No. 1 football team today for the seventh straight week.

Southern California and Georgia Tech, also unbeaten, were second and third in the Associated Press weekly poll of the nation's sports-writers and sportscasters. The 10th and final poll will be conducted next week.

The major change in the top 10 this week was the absence of once-favored Maryland, which dropped with a thud from eighth place to 15th after bowing, 27-7, to Alabama. And Alabama, 14th a week ago, jumped up into eighth.

Michigan State polled 88 first-place votes out of 149 cast to roll up 1,400 points.

Southern Cal moved up from fourth last week to second on the basis of its 14-12 victory over UCLA, which sends the Trojans to the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal had 24 first-place votes and 1,241 points. Georgia Tech was close behind with 1,223 points and 20 firsts.

Others in the top 10 were Oklahoma, fourth; UCLA, fifth; Mississippi, sixth; Notre Dame, seventh; Tennessee, ninth; Texas, 10th.

Points are based on 10 for first, nine for second, etc. down the line.

The leaders (first-place votes in parentheses):

1. Michigan State (88) . . . 1,400
2. Southern Cal (24) . . . 1,241
3. Georgia Tech (20) . . . 1,223
4. Oklahoma (3) . . . 793
5. Mississippi (5) . . . 551
6. Notre Dame . . . 544
7. Alabama (1) . . . 461
8. Tennessee . . . 294
9. Texas . . . 294

Snead Leads Boros Open By 2 Strokes

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP)—With 18 holes to go and a two stroke lead over the nearest rival, Sammy Snead appeared in line for the $1,000 winner's check to be awarded tonight at the conclusion of the 54-hole, $5,000 Julius Boros Open golf tournament.

Snead was nine under par going into the final round after a 67 Monday, to go along with an opening round 68, which left him at 135. That was two strokes in front of Pete Fleming, Old Springs, Ark., pro, now registering out of St. Andrews, Ill.

In third place at 138 was Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J. Sharing fourth place at 140 were Doug Ford, Yonkers, N. Y., and Pete Cooper, White Plains, N. Y. They had a stroke lead on Al Bessellink, Grossinger, N. Y.

Host pro Julius Boros, in whose honor the tournament is being held, locked at 142 with Johnny Palmer, Charlotte; Leo Biagiotti, Baltimore, and low amateur Dick Chapman of Pinehurst.

Detroit Tigers Sign Outfielder For Bonus

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced today they had signed Gene Neff, 20-year-old University of Kentucky basketball player, as an outfielder for a substantial bonus.

The Tigers declined to name the bonus figure but denied a newspaper report that it came to $30,000.

Neff was scheduled to be a Kentucky basketball starter this season until Kentucky dropped its scheduled at the request of the NCAA.

He was a three-time All-Ohio basketball forward when he played at Eaton, O.

Neff weighs 195 and stands 6-2. He bats right-handed and hit .330 at Kentucky last spring.

"He's got a lot of ability, has a great arm, and runs well," said a Tiger spokesman. He will report to the Tigers' newly formed minor league training camp next spring at Lakeland, Fla.

Tom Scott, former University of North Carolina basketball coach, is now head coach of the Phillips Oilers.

Wisconsin, Syracuse Complete Bowl Entries

NEW YORK (AP)—Wisconsin and Syracuse finally have struck it rich. The Badgers from Wisconsin, and the Orangemen from upstate New York landed lucrative bowl bids Monday to complete the lineup for college football's big post-season games on New Year's Day.

Wisconsin's "sweating-out" period was the first to end. The Badgers, Big Ten co-leaders, were chosen to face Southern California's unbeaten Trojans in the Rose Bowl.

Four hours later, Syracuse, which has never played in a "big" bowl game, was selected as Alabama's opponent in the Orange Bowl. The Easterners drew the nod after Navy reluctantly turned down the plum.

Here's the major bowl picture, with the Southeastern Conference providing half the teams:

Rose Bowl—Southern California (9-0) vs. Wisconsin (6-2-1)
Sugar Bowl—Georgia Tech (10-0) vs. Mississippi (7-0-2)
Cotton Bowl—Texas (7-2) vs. Tennessee (7-1-1)
Orange Bowl—Alabama (8-2) vs. Syracuse (7-2)

Wisconsin and Purdue finished the season tied for the Big Ten championship with identical league records of 4-1-1. This left it up to the Big Ten athletic directors to pick Southern Cal's opponent.

Waldorf Predicts USC Will Defeat Wisconsin

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lynn Waldorf, who couldn't win a Rose Bowl game in three straight years as California football coach, predicts Southern California will defeat the Big 10's Wisconsin Jan. 1. "I can't see any Big Ten of this season running over Southern California," he told football writers Monday. "USC has the strongest defensive team to represent the coast in at least 10 years."

Why every car needs HEET When the Temperature Drops Below 32°

Whenever the temperature drops below 32 degrees, the condensed moisture in every gas tank often forms ice. This causes slow, hard starting and gas-line freeze-ups. HEET is scientifically engineered to absorb moisture in your gas tank. It prevents gas-line freezing, assures easier winter starting. HEET saves battery, reduces ping and knock, keeps fuel system, carburetor and jets clean, improves engine performance.

Do what millions of wise motorists now do. Have your garage or service station add HEET to your gas tank today—and everytime you buy gas this winter. Only 65¢. HEET Division, DeMert & Dougherty, Inc., Chicago 32.

WHERE DID SHE PUT IT ALL? — Carolyn Wood, of Boston, Mass., says she is the "eatingest girl in the world." Only five feet, six inches tall, and weighing 125 pounds, the 21-year-old dancer recently put away the equivalent of seven full meals in less than two hours, to prove her point. Among other items included in the gargantuan feast were: two filet mignons, four sirloin steaks, a turkey dinner, and mounds of vegetables, all topped off with assorted deserts, three cups of coffee and 26 rolls. Following a childhood illness, Carolyn said she decided to eat her way back to health, and never feels any ill effects from her occasional huge meals.

calling list was described simply as "friends."

Eisenhower may have had a briefing on Korea—from the U. N. position—when he visited the organization's headquarters yesterday. He conferred with Trygve Lie, secretary general, and Lester Pearson of Canada, president of the U. N. General Assembly.

The conference was held only a few hours before the U. N. Political and Security Committee heard Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, reject a compromise, offered by India, on the repatriation of war prisoners taken in Korea.

The controversy over the disposition of prisoners is the key point at issue standing in the path of truce talks.

Back in his hotel headquarters, Eisenhower—

1. Talked at length with Nixon. The senator later told reporters he expects the normal duties of a vice president may be expanded to include some administrative work. "The general indicated he wants me to take an active role in expediting legislation," Nixon said.

2. Met Benson for the first time. Benson, 53, said his designation for secretary of agriculture came as "a great surprise." He referred reporters to Eisenhower when they asked who recommended him. He said he had been enrolled in a citizens organization supporting the GOP nomination of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft commented last night, "I think it is an excellent appointment."

But the senator added, "I can't claim him as my recommendation."

3. Talked with John Minor Wisdom, New Orleans attorney and Republican national committeeman from Louisiana.

Wisdom said he laid before Eisenhower a "general scheme" for building a strong Republican party in the South. He wants it to lead to a true two-party system, Wisdom said.

His scheme, Wisdom continued, seeks to "liberalize our laws to make it easier to become a Republican," to attract superior men to the party in the South and to change the laws so that fusion tickets may be presented to the voters in the future.

Wisdom said he was not primarily interested in patronage appointments. He called that "only one facet of the picture."

Whether a Southerner is appointed to the Cabinet is less important than that they take high policymaking positions in the new government, Wisdom said. "The Cabinet isn't as significant as it once was," he said. "I think the South will be represented at the policymaking levels."

Gov. Adams, who will be working in the White House with Eisenhower, outlined what he expects to do as a co-ordinator, and said, "You can expect a good many changes."

He described his duties as having a two-fold character—(1) "co-ordinating officer in the White House responsible for generally overseeing executive business, (2) general liaison between the White House and departments of government, which will include some liaison between the White House and Congress."

Some agencies may be abolished, the governor said. Some will be re-aligned, others absorbed into other organizations.

outlines of the Indian resolution glossed over, for the time being at least, the serious split between the U. S. and Britain over its details.

The Americans continued to demand that the resolution spell out in clearest detail all the mechanics of repatriating and resettling all prisoners as soon as possible. Acheson strongly opposed leaving to a political conference the fate of those who don't want to go back to Communist-ruled homelands. He predicted such a conference was bound to deadlock and would result in the indefinite detention of those prisoners.

But he said:

"We all want the same thing. If those difficulties are met, my government will support the Indian resolution and will loyally and faithfully attempt to carry it out."

There was no indication the U. S. would withdraw its own resolution, calling on the Assembly to approve the U. N. Command's stand against forcible repatriation of prisoners and to urge the Communists to accept a truce on those terms.

Vishinsky also had made it plain that Russia would not withdraw her resolution in favor of the Indian's.

RELEASED UNDER BOND

LISBON—Robert Strickland, 19, of Clendenin, W. Va., was released over the weekend by Lisbon police after posting $1,000 bond for his appearance before the January grand jury.

Strickland pleaded guilty last week to a charge of grand larceny in connection with theft of $2,000 of household items from a Lisbon residence last February.

Farmers Study Parity, Crop Price Support

COLUMBUS O. (AP)—Members of the Ohio Farm Bureau pondered the problems of parity and price support today at their three-day annual meeting.

Sen. Robert A. Taft in a speech before the group Monday night advocated a flexible system of farm price supports in which crop prices are determined by "trial and error."

Tonight Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-NC.) outgoing chairman of the House Agriculture committee will tell why he favors 90 per cent of parity.

The parity formula attempts to make the dollar the farmer gets for selling his crops equal to the dollar he must pay for his supplies.

"The exact support price ought to be determined," Taft said "by trial and error, perhaps by a farm board given discretion within certain limits."

In a pre-election poll of its members, the Ohio Farm Bureau said 41 per cent of those responding favored the present 90 per cent guarantees 15 liked flexible supports and 38 per cent were against all price supports.

John W. Sims executive secretary of the federation, in a report scheduled for submission this afternoon to the bureau, denounced the facilities of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture as "almost shamefully inadequate."

He said the Veterinary College "stands in constant jeopardy of losing its accredited rating."

He urged a "real agricultural center" for the focal point of all agricultural interests in the state.

OSU President Howard L. Bevis told The Associated Press he had never been informed that the veterinary school was in danger of losing its accreditation. "although we are conscious that the facilities there are inadequate."

Finds Watch Lincoln May Have Owned

KENT, O. (AP)—Homer N. Semler has a watch that might have belonged to Abraham Lincoln, but he isn't interested in tracing its origin.

A machinist, Semler found the hand engraved timepiece in a chest of drawers he purchased recently at an auction. Inside one of the cases and written on a piece of paper were the words: "Property of Abraham Lincoln, 1815."

The watch is made of an alloy of gold, copper and brass, runs on a chain drive and has a face carved out of rock. One jeweler estimated it was at least 150 years old.

Although the find aroused considerable curiosity among his friends, Semler is unconcerned.

"I don't know whether it belonged to Abraham Lincoln or King Tut," he said, "I don't plan to try and trace it."
